The New York Financer says this week: The statement of the associated banks of this city for the week ending July 27, 1895 reflects in part the continued stagnation of the Stock Exchange market, and the usual midsummer lethargy of general business. There was little demand for money during the week and rates have remained practically unchanged. Some heavy interior shipments of currency to this center have been reported of late, and the changes in the weekly statement are due almost altogether to this cause. Three banks alone received about $1,000,000 from Boston. The reserve is increasing again, and is higher than it has been since Jan. 27, a period of six months. Talk of higher money rates is still heard, but the uncertainty surrounding the exchange market and the knowledge that outside offerings of funds are probable at higher rates have prevented any advancement so far. The demand for money from the South and West has not been up to expectations, although there is every reason to look for a movement from this point soon. Comparisons with a year ago show that the New York banks are carrying a much heavier volume of loans and many millions less in deposits, while the excess reserve is only about half as large as reported for the corresponding

The trading on the Stock Exchange Saturday was dull, but the general tone was firm and the room traders were mostly buyers. The influences in the market were the desire to cover short contracts over Sunday and the buying by commission houses in the grangers, which were the features of the dealings. At the opening prices were dull, but the bear clique in Sugar quickly set to work to attack the Sugar quickly set to work to attack the stock and succeeded in forcing it down 1% per cent. At the lower figures buyers apeared and at the close all but % per cent. of the decline had been regained. The general list was not affected by the depression in Sugar and according to the sugar and affected by the depression in Sugar and affected by the depression in Sugar and affected by the depression in Sugar and according to the sugar according to the sugar and according to the sugar a pression in Sugar and generally ruled slightly higher. The market closed strong and generally higher. Some few stocks show declines on the day, including Toedo & Ohio Central 3 per cent. and Lake re, 1% per cent. The week witnessed a change of front on the part of certain operators. Speculation for some time centered mainly in the industrials, but for the past six days the railway shares were the leaders of the market, prominent in the transactions. The temper of speculation was decidedly bullish throughout as regards the granger shares, and quite a few of the railway properties.

The brilliant outlook for the corn crop induced heavy purchases of Rock Island and Burlington and a pronounced inquiry for the stocks of the other grain-carrying roads. The persistent endeavors of the bear traders, recently, to dislodge long stock in this group in a large measure were successful. Rock Island sold up 61/8 per cent., to 781/4; Burlington 51/4, to 92; St. Paul 21/2, to 707/4, and Northwestern 21/4, to 1011/4. These figures are the highest reached this year, and were maintained to the close. numerous favorable rallroad s, the expected near solution the trunk line difficulties, the growing belief that an adjustment will soon be effected of the anthracite coal roads differences, coupled with the cheerful business outlook generally, were factors in the general appreciation of values. London figured in the dealings but little. The commission houses reported a good increase in business and evidences were not wanting that outsiders were again not wanting that outsiders were again entering the field of speculation. Sugar was in good demand and rose 2% to 114%, declined to 112%, rallied to 114, receded to 112% and closed at 113%, a net gain of 2 per cent. As a result of the week's trading prices are in the main higher, the notable gains in addition to those already recorded being: C., C., C. & St. L. and New Jersey Central, 2%; St. Paul & Omaha preferred, 2%; St. Paul preferred and Susquehanna & Western preferred, 2 per cent. and Pullman, Cotton Oil preferred, B. & O. and Starch firsts preferred, 2 per cent. Declines—Toledo & Ohio Cen-

The trading on the week was characterized by the revival of activity in the Atchison issues. Substan-tial gains were made in the securities of the company. The speculation was generally strong in tone and activity, and the volume of business was considerably above that of the preceding week, but the distribution of the dealings was about the same. The principal changes in prices are: Advances: Illinois Central fours of 1953, 3%; C., C., C. & Indianapolis consols. 34, and toc; be Cordage firsts, Chesapeake & Ohio first Fr., 12 consols and Reading fours, trust receipts, som, per cent. The total sales of the week were $12,207,000, and 264 bonds were dealt in. Government bonds were lifeless. The sales were only $23,500. State securities were quiet, with sales of $75,000 Virginia Cen-

Trade Satisfactory for July, Fluctuations in Values Few.

On the wholesale streets trade for the week ending Saturday was fully up to expectations, while on Commission row the volume of trade was so large as to be a surprise. From the quantity of fruits and vegetables brought in and those shipped out one would think that no fruit or vegetables were raised in the State, or, at least, only enough to supply the tables of the producers. In fact, never before has the business in these lines at Indianapolis been any heavier in July, and on good stock good prices have been realized. The poultry, egg and butter markets have ruled steady all week. Receipts are not heavy, neither is the demand active. Provisions are moving well for midsummer at steady prices. Staple groceries rule steady and firm. Dry goods tend higher in several lines. The hide market is low, but prices are well held. Hay is weaker, and still further breaks in the market looked for. Other markets are without spe-

The local grain market was more active the past week. While prices at the close of the week were nearly the same as on Monday, there were numerous fluctuations during the week, and dealers and shippers kept close to the shore. IOWA'S INFANT PRODICY.

Creston (Ia.) Letter.

Considerable interest is manifested here, says a telegram, over the wonderful proclivities for learning of little Dole Stough, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Little Dole's retentive memory and his capacity for learning are extraordinary. He first began to develop these powers at the age of two years, when his father bought him a set of alphabet blocks. This he learned rapidly, and upon some of them being lost told what blocks were missing and the letters upon each. He started to school last September, and his rapid advancement was a source of considerable worry to his instructors. Promotion followed promotion in quick succes-sion, and some of the teachers finally went to the parents and complained that he outstripped the balance of his classmates so quickly that it was almost impossible to grade him. Dole is at present reading the ifth reader and studying history at home. He will lock horns with almost anyone, and excel, too, in a spelling match. Since then he has been studying the calendar. The writer was asked to tell Dole the date of his birth and he would tell him the day of the week.

STRONG BULL NEWS SENT CHICAGO WHEAT UPWARD YESTERDAY.

Corn and Oats at Better Prices Sympathy with Wheat-Provisions Unchanged.

CHICAGO, July 27.-Helped by strong news to-day, wheat closed at an advance of 21%c per bushel, after having at one part of the day shown a gain of 31/2c. Corn was firm, partly in sympathy with wheat and in part to the premium being paid for spot corn, closing 1/3c higher. September cats closed 1/3c higher and provisions finished with but little change.

Wheat opened strong and quiet, and for about an hour and a half it looked as if the rise at the opening would be the outside price for the day. At the end of that time, however, the initial jump of about %c to 1c per bushel was supplemented by a series of spasmodic bounds, which in less than fifteen minutes added 2c per bushel, more. The chief reason for the great strength was because of Argentine having at length thrown up the sponge in the triangular contest between her, Russia and this country in supplying the wants of the wheat importing part of the world. The opening price for September was from 70c to 70%c, and after backing and filling between those figures up to about 11 o'clock a little extra demand from the shorts ruffled the scantiness of the quantity for sale. Upon that discovery it became a question with those who had previously sold off who could run fastest or jump furthest in pusuit of the elusive prices, which rose to 72%c before the chase was over. At that figure enough long wheat was let go to cause a reaction price receipts were 113 cars, of which nine were No. 2 red. The total receipts at primary Western markets amounted to 347,000 bu, compared with 1,185,000 at the same points last year. The week's shipments from both coasts, including flour, was only 1,265,000 bu, against 1,652,000 bu last week and 3,838,000 a year ago. The visible, which last year increased 3,359,000 bu, will perhaps show a small decrease this week, estimated at about 250,000 bu. The reports from the Northwest in some cases would lead to the impression of very serious crop failure and in others to the expectation of an exceptionally heavy yield. The amount of business done here on orers from the outside was small. The small Argentine shipments and the higher cables kept the market strong throughout the day despite considerable realizing.

The corn market was irregular, but in the main firm, even for May delivery. Some disquieting reports concerning the Some disquieting reports concerning the growing crop are coming from Nebraska, and although by itself would not have much effect, it directed attention to the uncertain tenure of life held by a growing crop. The eash demand is excellent and to a certain extent urgent. To-day's receipts were 317 cars, and 360 are estimated for Monday. September opened at 431/ac, de-clined to 421/ac, reacted to 431/ac and closed at 431/4c. May from 351/4c at the opening sold off to 351/4c, then rose to 361/4c and Quite a good business was transacted oats. At the opening an easier feeling prevailed, but when wheat advanced, oats also went up. September opened at 22½c, sold at 22¾c up to 22¾c and closed at 22¾c. The provision market was a shade firmer, but very dull and at the close there was very little change from yesterday's resting Pork left off at a decline of 21/2c and ribs are .021/2c higher. Receipts of hogs to-day were 5,000. Last week's receipts were 91,454.

against 141,794 on the corresponding week of the year before. The receipts for Monday are estimated as follows: Wheat, 120 cars; corn, 360 cars; oats, 225 cars; hogs, 17,000 head. For the entire week 75,000 hogs are expected to arrive Leading futures ranged as follows:

Elsewhere. CHICAGO, July 27 .- The cattle trade was dull and prices showed more or less weakness, as the general expectation was that the recent large receipts at Kansas City and other Western points will be followed by a big "run" here next Monday. The market this week has been a disappointment to sellers and the closing is dull at $5.40@5.75 for common to choice native steers, extra lots being nominal at $5.806 5.90. Fair native cattle are obliged to into sharp competition with fine stock from the Western ranges, there being numerous lots of the latter that sell at $4@4.50, with some selling as high as $4.85. Native butchers' and canners' stuff is doing better than the general run of steers and there is very good call for cows and bulls at $1.75@3.50, with a few fancy lots at much higher prices. Calves sel at $2.50@5.50 for poor to best. The stocker and feeder' trade has improved considerably and some common heifers averaging 530 to 700 pounds were taken yesterday a $2.15@2.20. Texas cattle were steady to-day at $3.15@4.15 for steers and $2.25@2.65 for the general run of cows and bulls, with choice fed steers nominally firm at $4.25@ 4.65. USURIOUS METHODS IN BERLIN. Thousands of Prussians Driven Ruin or Exile Each Year.

San Francisco Argonaut. All Berlin sighs under the despotism of usury. The government, at least the pillars of the government, sigh and suffer the most. For the past six months one huge trial for usury has followed another, and the end is not yet. In one of these trials last fall there was no less than 127 de-fendants, and the number of witnesses amounted to nearly four hundred. A number of the worst usurers have been found guilty and sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from six months upward to seven years, besides heavy fines in money. Quite a number of the shrewd-est and most dangerous had to be ac-quitted for lack of proof. Just now two trials en masse for usury are proceeding, and some additional trials are to come, but all that will not much change the complexion of affairs in Berlin. The young capital of the new German empire will remain the most usury-riden city in the world, where the vampireism of a legion of Shylocks steadily sucks the life blood of the higher as well as lower classes, and drives annually hundreds and thousands into ruin or into exile. The cause is expresesed by the untrans latable word "standerstucksichten," by which is meant the thousand and one con is as proud as the Spanish, vastly prouder than the British. Their poverty now and their claims to consideration, their station in life, their prominent position in the state lead to a never-ceasing conflict. Their peculiar code of honor forbids them to engage in money-making pursuits, least of all in trade or commerce, and nothing is left them to live in accordance with the cast-inen notions of their mind but either to enter the army as professional soldiers, to enter the government employ. or else to till the meager paternal acres.

The latter occupation—which used to fur nish to brothers, cousins and sons of such withal to live standesgesmaes (i. e., accord ing to their rank) in Berlin or elsewhere-is becoming less and less profitable, owing to cheap American and East Indian wheat cheap Russian rye and cheap Australian meat. And the pay of Prussian army offi-cers or government employes is still so wholly inadequate that it does not suffice even the most modest expectations up to the age of forty or so.

A "money marriage" is the sole remedy left them to adjust their affairs under normal conditions; but "money marriages," too, are becoming less and less frequent, since the number of claimants to each wealthy girl's hand is yearly becoming larger. The hunt for an American helress or for some other exotic "goldfish" is hence mentioned in the lexicon of these unenviable young men as the dernier ressort. This rapid per picture of the actual conditions confronting nine-tenths of the young Prussian nobles on entering life is by no means complete But it will serve to show why the usurer in Berlin has become a power of the first

Each year scores of cases occur in Berlin of young hopefuls ending their brief butterfly existence by a well-directed bullet; of desparing fathers quitting the service of that state to which they had devoted the best years of their life at a personal and financial sacrifice; of middle-aged men disappearing (and often turning up again in miserable guise in some transatlantic country) from their old-time haunts—and all this because the usurer at last has drawn the net close about them. And the number of poor, dowerless girls, of sisters, and brides of these same young men, girls who, of their own free choice, abandon every hope of wifehood and motherhood simply to enable their lords of the other sex, their brothers in most cases, to cut a figure fo a time, to live standesgesmaes, is fairly in numerable. These poor girls, silent, uncomplaining victims of hoary prejudice, are the real heroines in these tragedies of life. That is why Berlin is honeycombed with usury, and that is why usury is a regular profession-or, rather, a fine art.

SOME SECRETS OF THE TOILET.

Now comes the information that massage for the face is not desirable. Somebody has discovered that the steaming, the soak ing, the kneading, so long and so persistently recommended, injure the eyes, deprives them of their brightness and gives a puffed, sleepy expression not consisten with the demands of beauty. A change is at once inaugurated in establishments es pecially devoted to physical improvemen The costly apparatus, with its myriad pipe and bowls, which was set up with suc care particularly for face massage, is relegated to the background and, while the countenance may be worked, pinched, or punched as diligently and as long as the customer is willing to pay for, the steaming is not a part of the performance.

"I don't think the external appearance of the eye is so much affected, but massage injures the sight," asserts the keeper one fashionable tollette establishment. one fashionable toilette establishment. "I advocated it and used it myself, until I found that after my face had been treated my eyes would burn and feel strange for several days. The eye is a delicate organ to experiment with. I consulted physicians on the subject and now, although I give face massage when it is asked for, I do not urge it on my customers as formerly."

Massage of the whole body will improve the complexion, but the face must be left alone. A certain shade of dark red hair which can be obtained only by the use of henna has become the rage in Paris, and is which can be obtained only by the use of henna has become the rage in Paris, and is being adopted in New York. It is a beautiful Titian red, produced by a tedious and ot-repeated process of alternate washings, applications and dryings, but the upto-date seeker after beauty does not mind the inconvenience, or the paying of $100 or $150 for the operator's secret. Of course, after the brown, drab or light hair has been changed to the desirable red, the subject stands in need of the pure and dazzling complexion which will harmonize with it. This, too, the beauty doctor undertakes to supply, not by glaring cosmetics, but by the many subtle arts and remedies of whose powers she is mistress. "It is not an abomnable thing to resort to art in this regard," she says. "The only wrong about it is the doing of it so badly that it offends the eye and the taste of the beholders. I Given the requisite lotions, rogues and instructions, the erstwhile dull-looking blond or sallow-faced brunette develops roses and illies that are at once the wonder and the admiration of her friends.

"More women paint their faces to-day" henna has become the rage in Paris, and is wonder and the admiration of her friends.

"More women paint their faces to-day than ever before," said the manager of a fashionable Fifth-avenue shop. "Whoever takes his walks abroad and observes cannot fail to perceive that fact. Not only is the quantity of the self-decorator greater, but her quality is higher. Of course, there is a tradition that 'making up' is tabooed in New York society, but it is only a tradition. The fact is that a great deal of tint-New York society, but it is only a tradi-tion. The fact is that a great deal of tint-ing is done by people of very high stand-ing. If the painting epidemic spreads, as it threatens to do, it will soon become im-possible for even the smaller social fry to adhere to the comparatively sober tints that nature has bestowed. They will begin to imitate the shining example set up be-fore them and there will be none to 'cut' them or make them afraid, for you may be sure it would never do for Mrs. De Smith-Jones and her friends to bring up a discussion of the mysteries of the "After all." continued this shrewd of server of human nature, "why is it more questionable for a woman to 'make up' daintily and judiciously than to select a blue gown because it is more becoming, or to soften her accentuated shoulder blades by a layer of wadding, her curving, scrawpierce the sensibilities of her friends? The chief objection that I can see to 'making up' is the suggestion it gives of uncleanliness, but that can be obviated with care.

Of course, there are a few wise women who 'make up' successfully, but the world need not be in any alarm over the degree to which it will be deceived. The trouble with the average woman is that she won't realize how little deception can be prac-ticed in this regard. She starts out by applying a faint, scarcely perceptibly, blo and ends up with a vermillion coating that could be scraped off with a trowel. Were I a man I could never bring myself to kiss the cheek that borrowed its bloom from a rouge pot; and what eyes could look love to eyes, even to eyes that spoke again, if i were known that what seemed the reflec-tion of those long, thick eyelashes was in reality produced by a painstaking appli-cation of the pencil? The question resolves itself into this: "Is it bad to do it or to do it badly?" There's the rub," and madam turned away to confer with a handsomely dressed matron who wished to see her peronally on important private business.

A PROFESSIONAL CHAPERON. Miss Z. Wallace Beatty Acts as Escort to Female Tourists. Washington Post.

Miss Z. Wallace Beatty, of Indianapolis Ind., a very attractive young lady, very refined in looks and engaging in manner, courteously received a reporter at the Normandie last evening, and told him something of her life as a professional chaperon thing of her life as a professional chaperon to ladies who make tours over the Pennsylvania Railroad to Florida, California, Niagara Falls and other famed resorts.

"When I first ventured on the business four years ago," she said, "it was with a fearful heart-quaking. I was nearly scared to death. No storm-tossed mariner wrecked at sea ever felt more desolate, more hopeless. That feeling soon wore off; my wits assemed to come back bringing confidence less. That feeling soon wore off; my wits seemed to come back, bringing confidence and self-possession, and I had not made many trips before I began to like the situation. I still like it, and think it is as good a field for a woman who follows an indepedent career as any other.

"What are my duties? Well, I am supposed to look out particularly for ladies who have no male escort. The number who haven't is large and continually on the increase. Though I never disdain the services of a man myself and am grateful for his help, yet nowadays ladies can get along capitally on the longest distance trip without masculine assistance. The female chaperon is supposed to come out strong in an emergency like sudden illness. I have been very lucky in this regard, never havbeen very lucky in this regard, never hav-ing had but one of my charges to become seriously ill en route, and she recovered. In the four years of my experience I have met with but few cranks among the women and chivalrous and obliging men by the

Not Altogether Romantic.

The recent war has robbed us of much fascinating romance. The word Japan is to-day a symbol of power, where yesterday 'twas one of sweetness. The spell of Ar-25c; off crude, 24c; summer yellow prime, 28a,29c; yellow summer off grade, 27a,28c; which is meant the thousand and one considerations which Germans deem due to their rank or station in life. Prussia is a poor country, even to-day, after amalgations advance, ruled steady and firm on cables and fair warehouse deliveries; eased off under local pressure and absence of outside speculative ure and absence of outside speculative over and by the Rhine. The Prussian nobility is the poorest of any civilized country, womankind was claimed; and now the womankind was claimed; and now the who claims to be an impartial judge, main-tains that "in every feature" the Chinese woman is superior to her Japanese sister; in physique, intellectuality, in modesty, pretis sad to hear our fancy's idols of so sho a time ago spoken of as "misshapen, cracking little dots with black teeth."
